Pennoweth News

Wow! The Y6 production was an awesome start to the week! A massive well done to the children and the Y6 team—we were blown away with what you produced in a short period of time and the quality of singing was incredible!

Yesterday Pennoweth hosted the Crofty Trust Pupil Council Eco Summit— representatives from UKS2 from 16 schools in the Trust came to Pennoweth for a series of talks and challenges based on sustainability and eco friendly changes our schools can make. The children made promises which will be displayed in all schools and when the Pupil Council meet half-termly through the year they will discuss their progress towards these pledges. Please see photos from the event on our twitter feed (@PennowethS).

A huge thank you to the PTA for organising a lovely summer disco this week —everyone looked amazing in their party clothes and we had lots of fun dancing, eating sweets and getting tattoos and glitter!

Congratulations to Harry (Porthleven) for achieving your summer 2 reading target! Well done!

Even though it is nearly the summer holidays, the children are still working hard—I was particularly impressed with LKS2 this week who have been doing some brilliant practical science as part of their potions project.

Please check the diary dates—next week is a busy one! Clubs have now finished and don't forget on Monday we have our rescheduled KS2 singing festival at 2.15pm and 5pm. The arrangements will remain the same. We can't wait for you to join us!

Character Qualities

This year we will be changing the 4 key characteristics we are on the look out for every term. For Summer, we are looking for children who are demonstrating the characteristics of being:

Inclusive
Helpful
Resilient
Inventive

We also have our Stars of the Week, who have been classroom superstars and DNA Champions for each phase.

Diary of a ks1 gardening club...part 2

Monday 3rd July

28 Tea bags, a bag of coffee grounds and a box of food waste was deposited in the composter for our first job of the day.

Then it was on to planting some flowers in the pots outside. Primroses, nasturtiums, marigolds and a daisy. Mrs.Mallaber said the nasturtium flower and leaves can be eaten.

Once planted we had to water them and all the other plants. When we watered the broad beans, we found some ready to pick and so we all chose one, although Harriet said "That ones not fully grown, we need to leave that one"

They felt furry on the outside but what will they look like inside?

We checked on the lettuces to see if they were ready to pick. We had to be careful that they didnt 'bolt'. This is when they look stretched out with a leggy appearance and happens because the plant has reached the end of its life cycle. It will taste bitter and the leaves will become tough. We were very pleased to see that some were ready and so we all got one to take home.

" My Dad likes lettuce in his burger" said one excited gardener.

Mrs.Mallaber had made some new plant labels and so it was like a game, matching up the label with the plant. Now everyone can see and know what we have grown. If you are passing anytime, have a look. I'm sure the children would love to show you.

Year 5 Camp—Isles of Scilly

Last week, our intrepid year 5 adventurers set sail for a week's camp in the Isles of Scilly. After an incredibly early start on the Monday morning, we boarded the Scillonian in Penzance; the crossing was 'slightly choppy' but after 3 hours we landed in St Mary's harbour and begun to explore this beautiful treasure of an archipelago.

Over the course of the week we took part in many activities and met many people who live across the islands, discovering the joys and complexities of island life. We explored many gardens and nature reserves and at times felt as though we were in a tropical paradise. We discovered many different beaches and coves and marvelled at how beautiful and clear the waters were. We visited numerous places across several islands including; Tolls Island, Porthellick burial chambers, St Agnes Island with The Gugh and the Sandbar that joins them, the airfield, the Garrison, St Martin's Island and the 'Daymark', the school bases on both St Mary's and St Martin's and many many more. We were also lucky enough to have demonstrations and workshops with Joff - the plastic free lobster pot maker, Sam – the farmer and ice cream maker, the local police and the local coastguards all of whom complimented our children on how well behaved and engaged they were – we are incredibly proud of them.

We are incredibly proud of our children. All of whom embraced everything we did with smiles and determination. Camping was new to many and they were all quick to learn everything they needed to do to be comfortable and successful in the field! I was particularly impressed with the rapid improvement in the washing-up skills across the week!!

We arrived home on Friday night, thoroughly exhausted, slightly damp from the rain on the last day and with slightly sore feet (we walked at least 40 miles across the 5 days!!) but still everyone was smiling and still doing us proud right up until the last minute.

Well done everyone and here's to the next adventure.

What Parents & Carers Need to Know about

RUMBLE

AGE RESTRICTION
12+

on the App Store;
Teen+ on Google Play

WHAT ARE THE RISKS?

A video-sharing platform designed as an alternative to YouTube, Rumble is the epitome of a 'slow burner' in digital circles: it was initially launched in 2013, but it's only in the last two or three years that it's begun to gain serious traction. Much of Rumble's recent growth has stemmed from its association with Truth Social, the platform founded by former US President Donald Trump. Rumble's content frequently reflects some intense political viewpoints; this can often affect the way it approaches topics and has occasionally caused the platform to venture into controversial territory.

POLITICAL AFFILIATIONS

The company which developed Rumble is also responsible for hosting Truth Social, the often contentious news and social network founded by Donald Trump. Indeed, Rumble's content often reflects the ideas of one group of US voters, who have embraced it as an alternative to more mainstream social media. Many parents may feel that such an overtly political platform isn't suitable for young people.

PROVOCATIVE CONTENT

Rumble prides itself on championing free speech, with its CEO declaring the platform "immune to cancel culture". Many of Rumble's highest-profile content creators – such as Andrew Tate and Russell Brand – are well known for sharing opinions which are often described as extreme. While adults might be equipped to treat this content objectively, much of it may not be appropriate for a young audience.

INAPPROPRIATE MATERIAL

In very simple terms, Rumble works a little like YouTube but with far fewer censors and restrictions being applied to its content. If age-inappropriate material or potentially harmful misinformation is trending on the platform and being shared among more mature users, there's a distinct possibility that Rumble's algorithm may also recommend that content to a child.

CONTROVERSIAL FIGURES

Many of Rumble's best-known accounts are owned by individuals who have previously been banned from other social media platforms. There could, of course, be a variety of reasons behind this – but it almost certainly increases the chances of your child coming across content on Rumble which probably wouldn't be deemed acceptable on other similar platforms.

SENSITIVE TOPICS

In recent months, some prominent Rumble influencers have expressed uncompromising views on sensitive subjects such as gun control, abortion, LGBTQ issues and more. With many Rumble accounts tending to display a noticeable political bias, the concern would be that young people using the platform may not always be presented with an impartial perspective on these important and complex topics.

Advice for Parents & Carers

TALK ABOUT POLITICS

Rumble does have a team of moderators, but the nature of the platform means that some permitted content is likely to be controversial and highly subjective. That possibility might make many parents uncomfortable – but if your child does view (or hear about) something provocative on Rumble, it can still provide a useful opportunity to discuss politics at home in a safe, relaxed environment.

CHECK UP REGULARLY

Like any video-sharing platform, there's a chance that Rumble might suggest inappropriate content for your child. There may be an algorithm issue – or it could be that the recommendations are based on videos they've previously viewed. If your child uses Rumble, you might consider a chat with them about which accounts they follow and what type of content is suitable for their age.

RESEARCH ALTERNATIVES

No video-sharing platform is totally free from potentially harmful content, of course – but the number of prominent account holders on Rumble whose output has previously been banned from similar services is certainly a cause for concern. If your child is becoming interested in influencer culture or politics specifically, you could perhaps research more family-friendly platforms together.

DISCUSS IMPARTIALITY

Many prominent Rumble accounts wear their political leanings firmly on their sleeves. As a result, it can be tricky for impressionable young people to appreciate both sides of any given debate. If your child is old enough to use Rumble, you may feel that a discussion of some things they've seen might be prudent – if so, be prepared for some complex (and possibly lengthy) conversations!
